Prepared for: [CLIENT NAME] Business: [BUSINESS NAME] Serving: [CITY / SERVICE AREA]

Date: [DATE] Prepared by: Dillon Courtright, Courtright Collective

The short version

[Three or four sentences. Where you currently show up, where you do not, and the single fix that would change the most. Write this last.]

Do this first: [the one fix]

1. What happens when somebody searches for you

I ran the searches your customers actually run, from [city] .

SEARCH	DO YOU APPEAR IN THE MAP PACK?	POSITION	NOTES
[your business name]	[yes/no]	[n]	[note]
[service] near me	[yes/no]	[n]	[note]
[service] [city]	[yes/no]	[n]	[note]
[service] [neighborhood]	[yes/no]	[n]	[note]
best [service] [city]	[yes/no]	[n]	[note]
[secondary service] [city]	[yes/no]	[n]	[note]
[emergency / urgent variant]	[yes/no]	[n]	[note]
[competitor's angle]	[yes/no]	[n]	[note]

What this pattern means: [e.g. you rank for your own name and nothing else, which means you are only found by people who already know you. That is the most common finding and it is very fixable.]

2. Your Google Business Profile

This is the single highest-leverage thing in local search and it is free.

ITEM	STATUS	NOTES
Claimed and verified	[yes/no]	[note]
Primary category	[what it is]	[should it change? this is the biggest lever on the profile]
Secondary categories	[list]	[note]
Business name matches everywhere	[yes/no]	[note]
Address or service area set correctly	[yes/no]	[note]
Phone number	[yes/no]	[note]
Hours, including holidays	[yes/no]	[note]
Website link	[yes/no]	[note]
Description, 750 characters	[yes/no]	[note]
Services or products listed	[yes/no]	[note]
Photos, count and quality	[n]	[note]
Photo added in the last 30 days	[yes/no]	[note]
Q&A section, seeded	[yes/no]	[note]
Posts, recent	[yes/no]	[note]
Attributes set	[yes/no]	[note]
Messaging on and answered	[yes/no]	[note]

Biggest gap: [the one that matters most]

3. Reviews

METRIC	YOU	[COMPETITOR 1]	[COMPETITOR 2]	[COMPETITOR 3]
Total reviews
Average rating
Reviews in the last 90 days
Owner replies

Where you stand: [honest read. Recency usually matters more than total, and reply rate is almost always the easiest gap to close.]

What to do about it: [specific, with a number. e.g. you need roughly 15 more reviews to be in the same conversation as the top three, which at a 10 percent ask rate is about 150 asks, which is about four months of asking every customer.]

4. Name, address, phone consistency

Google decides whether you are one real business or three sketchy ones by comparing your details across the web. Inconsistency quietly costs you ranking.

Your details as they should read:

Name:
Address:
City, State ZIP:
Phone:

WHERE	MATCHES EXACTLY?	WHAT IT SAYS INSTEAD
Website	[yes/no]	[if not, what]
Google Business Profile	[yes/no]	[what]
Facebook	[yes/no]	[what]
Yelp	[yes/no]	[what]
Apple Business Connect	[yes/no]	[what]
Bing Places	[yes/no]	[what]
[Industry directory]	[yes/no]	[what]
[Industry directory]	[yes/no]	[what]

Mismatches found: [n] . Fixing these is boring and it works.

5. Your website, from a local search angle

CHECK	RESULT	NOTES
City or service area named on the homepage	[yes/no]	[note]
A page per main service	[yes/no]	[note]
Page titles include the service and the place	[yes/no]	[note]
One clear H1 per page	[yes/no]	[note]
Name, address, phone in the footer of every page	[yes/no]	[note]
Phone is a tap-to-call link	[yes/no]	[note]
Embedded map on the contact page	[yes/no]	[note]
LocalBusiness structured data	[yes/no]	[note]
Loads in under 3 seconds on mobile	[yes/no]	[note]
Indexed by Google (<code>site:</code> search)	[yes/no]	[note]
HTTPS with no mixed content	[yes/no]	[note]
Images have alt text	[yes/no]	[note]

6. What your competitors are doing that you are not

COMPETITOR	WHAT THEY HAVE	WHAT IT IS WORTH
[name]	[e.g. a page for every neighborhood they serve]	[why it works]
[name]	[e.g. 180 reviews and replies to all of them]	[why it works]
[name]	[e.g. photos updated weekly]	[why it works]

The pattern: [what the top three all have in common. Usually it is unglamorous and repeatable.]

7. The fixes, in order

Ranked by impact divided by effort.

▪ This week

1. [Fix] — [why it matters] — [how long it takes]
2. [Fix] — [why] — [time]
3. [Fix] — [why] — [time]

▪ This month

4. [Fix] — [why] — [time]

5. [Fix] — [why] — [time]

6. [Fix] — [why] — [time]

▪ This quarter

7. [Fix] — [why] — [time]

8. [Fix] — [why] — [time]

8. What to expect, honestly

Local search moves slowly. Here is a realistic shape rather than a promise:

- Weeks 1 to 2: profile fixes are live. Little visible change yet
- Weeks 3 to 6: the map pack usually starts responding to profile completeness and photo activity
- Months 2 to 4: review volume and consistency work start to show
- Months 4 to 6: the compounding part, if you kept it up

What nobody can promise you, including me: a specific position, a specific traffic number, or a timeline that Google honors. Anybody who does promise those is guessing, and guessing confidently is not the same as knowing.

Want me to do it?

All of this is yours regardless. Every item above is something you or your team can do.

If you would rather not:

- [This week and this month fixes, done for you] : [price]
- [Ongoing local visibility, monthly] : [price]

Internal notes, delete before sending

Time budget: 60 to 90 minutes.

- 15 min: run the searches. Use an incognito window and set the search location to their city, otherwise your own location skews everything
- 20 min: Google Business Profile review, competitor profiles too
- 10 min: review comparison
- 15 min: NAP consistency across the listed sites
- 15 min: website checks, run PageSpeed and a site: search
- 15 min: write it up

Rules:

- Set the search location manually. Auditing from the wrong city produces confidently wrong results
- Never promise a ranking position. Ever
- The review section is usually the biggest gap and the easiest sell for the Review Booster Kit
- If they do not have a Google Business Profile at all, that is the entire audit. Say so, fix that, and offer to run the audit again in 60 days
- Local SEO is mostly unglamorous consistency work. Say that out loud, because it sets expectations that keep the client happy at week three
